Discipline Hearing Decorum

Information for Observers

What Is a Discipline Hearing?

A discipline hearing is the final stage of the discipline process. Evidence is heard and submissions are made, usually by legal counsel, respecting allegations of professional misconduct and/or incompetence to a panel of the Discipline Committee. Based on the information presented during the hearing, the discipline panel makes a finding as to whether or not the allegations have been proved. If there is a finding of professional misconduct and/or incompetence, the discipline panel will also hear submissions respecting penalty, and may issue an Order on penalty at the conclusion of the proceedings.

Hearings are open to the public unless the panel has ordered otherwise.

Should you have any questions concerning a discipline hearing or wish to attend* an upcoming hearing, please contact the College.
